MERGER BILL GOES TO GOVERNOR

STRONG REACTION TO MASS MEETINGS OVER BOTH CITIES

The Public Begins To Think Of Problem
Now Evident

PAYMENTS OF POLL INCREASE

People Warned To Regard Matter
As Serious

Strong reaction to the mass meetings held in school buildings in Albany, Decatur, Fairview, and Austinville last night, was seen today in the general atmosphere about the streets of determination to qualify the largest number of persons ever qualified to vote in this county.

No demonstrations were prevalent, the people preferring to take the problem of courthouse removal to their homes and to the homes of their neighbors, where the ultimate settlement will be found.

Prominent business and professional men ascended rostrums at the various school buildings on Thursday night to bring home the fact to the public that the responsibility lies with no organization, no set of people, but with every citizen who regards his right to citizenship as sacred.

No flowery oratory was presented to the ears of citizens who gathered in the buildings, but a quiet presentation of the facts in the situation caused citizens to begin thinking of the seriousness of the problem confronting Albany-Decatur and the county sections.

Kiwanis legions took the field this afternoon, entering the business sections of these cities, urging that employers ask that employees qualify for forthcoming elections, stressing the point that poll taxes must be paid on or before February 1 and that registration is of secondary importance, not coming to the attention of voters before July when it is anticipated that the board of revenue may open the books.

It was the opinion on the streets today that Albany-Decatur has at last accepted the responsibility in the fight to retain the courthouse; the citizens having aroused to what might be termed a "business-like" pitch, taking their share of the responsibility and urging that neighbors do likewise.

Deputies Raid In West Areas

One white man, who's name is given as William Grissom, is in Morgan county jail on a liquor manufacturing charge, and a still is destroyed as the result of a raid near the Trinity section Thursday by Deputies Willoughby and Turner. Officers declared that the still had just been fired up when the raid was made. It was stated that a quantity of beer was poured out. State law enforcement officer Garrett assisted in the raid.

Walter Williams Is Held In Theft

Walter Williams, negro, is being held at Morgan county jail in connection with the theft of a Ford touring car Sunday afternoon. The car was taken from near the Decatur Ice Cream and Creamery Company, and was the property of Mr. Laughmiller, an employee. Williams was held in Birmingham by authorities until Sheriff B. E. Davis went to that city for the prisoner. Sheriff Davis returned the prisoner here in the Laughmiller car, later returning the automobile to the owner.

ALCOHOL BILL UP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—
Creation of a new market for the country's surplus corn crop by its use in the manufacture of industrial alcohol was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Stewart, Republican, Iowa.

Rep. James Hints At Government Operation Of The Shoals Plant

AUBURN EXPERT IS EXPECTED HERE AT TUESDAY'S PARLEY

Ford Announces That
S. H. Gibbons Will Make Address

PUBLIC URGED TO BE PRESENT

Farmers Also Asked
To Discuss Plant
For Canning

S. H. Gibbons, of the Auburn farm extension service, probably will be here Tuesday evening to attend the conference of local business men and Junior Chamber of Commerce members on plans for a canning factory, according to word today from J. C. Ford, Morgan county farm agent, who is co-operating in the movement.

C. J. Hayden, horticultural agent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad company, also has been asked by Mr. Ford to be present on that occasion.

At the conference Tuesday evening, it is hoped that a definite decision can be made as to the feasibility of establishment of such a factory here, and, should the business men of the Twin Cities decide to go ahead with the movement, that a plan can be worked out for bringing about the operation of the plant by this season.

It has been pointed out that if the plant is to begin operation this year, that plans for its establishment must be formulated immediately.

The Junior Chamber members have asked that every citizen interested in the movement be present Tuesday evening. Mr. Ford will be one of the principal speakers and now is engaged in making a thorough study of the subject. Planters who are interested in the movement will be extended a cordial welcome to the conference, the junior chamber stated.

Still Raid Nets Negro Capture

Minor Thompson, negro, is in Morgan county jail following a raid early this morning on his home out on the Danville pike. The raiding party included Enforcement Officers Garrett and Root and Deputies Turner and Willoughby. Officers stated that a still was destroyed.

MARINES READY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—
The emergency marine battalion at San Diego, Cal., held for possible service in China, today were increased to a strength of 1,039 men.

Sixteen Years Not Too Much To Pay, Says Negro

Sixteen years in back poll was not too much to pay for H. C. Thompson, Decatur negro, who is interested in seeing that he does his part toward keeping the county seat in Decatur. Thompson was followed closely in the payment of the huge poll by W. T. Strain, negro, who checked in for the years between 1901 and 1913, going above the age limit in 1913.

Tax Collector J. H. Hill stated that the negroes paid their back taxes gladly and talked of numerous others who intended to pay their taxes before the time limit at midnight on February 1, in order that they might have a voice in fighting the courthouse removal idea originating in Hartselle.

Mary's Lamb Went To School But Laboratory's Sheep Attends The Movies; Neither Had Been Asked

Mary had a little lamb and it followed her to school one day. . . . Yesterday afternoon the sheep probably read of the escape of a Huntsville jail inmate in order to go to the barber shop. Being a loyal sheep, with lots of community spirit, the animal promptly broke from his confines and then the chase got underway. Across fields, streets and lots, the laboratory folks transposed Mary's little story by following the sheep. Reaching a point near McBride's story on Sixth avenue, the sheep doubled back in search of the movies and found a dandy program at the Princess.

Unfortunately for its peace of mind, however, the pursuers followed, close on the fleeing animal's trail, which led from the theatre to the territory adjacent to the Rountree Lumber Company's plant on Moulton street. There the chase ended with the capture of the roving specimen of the sheep specie.

BARNETT MAKES STRONG APPEAL

Program At Union
Meeting Pleases
Large Crowd

Fred T. Barnett, general secretary of the Wesley Brotherhood organization in southern Methodism, inspired his hearers Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. at the union meeting of local brotherhoods from Central Methodist, First Methodist and Ninth Methodist churches. Mr. Barnett selected "Aristocracy of Service" as his theme.

With Dr. J. L. Gunter, Central Methodist leader, presiding, the more than 100 guests were led in prayer by Rev. R. T. Taylor, "America" was sung by the assembly, Mrs. H. O. Troup presiding at the piano. Circle No. one of the Central missionary society served a delectable chicken dinner plate.

An interesting program followed the dinner, Miss Pearson, member of the Albany school faculty, opening the program, reading "That Old Sweetheart of Mine." Miss Pearson, attractively gowned in the costume of the "60's," was accompanied by Mrs. H. O. Troup. A girls' chorus was particularly enjoyable, responding to several encores. The First Methodist quartet, including Messrs. J. G. McGeehe, N. R. Carrell, I. V. Timberlake and R. C. Gardiner rendered an enjoyed hymnal. Mrs. Joseph Petty concluded the musical program with two delightful vocal selection, being accompanied by Mrs. Troup.

Mr. Barnett was introduced and launched into his particularly strong and pleasing appeal for service, counting the aristocracy of service as above the aristocracy of power, money, learning and blood. In his address Mr. Barnett enumerated the aims of the brotherhood, driving home the idea of social welfare, educational effort and service to human kind.

Rev. W. D. Barnes closed the service with prayer.

300 Back Taxes Are Paid In Here

Approximately 300 back polls have been paid at the office of the Morgan county tax collector, it was estimated today by J. H. Hill, collector. Mr. Hill stated that this figure did not include the books placed at local banks, nor the subsidiary office being operated at Hartselle. The back taxes ranged from two years to 16 years, said the collector.

HAYS EXPLAINS POLL TAX RETURN

Superintendent Of County Tells Of Appropriation

E. L. Hays, county superintendent of education, today explained the return of poll tax payments to the various counties, feeling that such an explanation would prove interesting to Morgan county citizens at this juncture of time.

The educational chief explained: "All of the poll tax comes back, every cent of it, with no commission taken out for the handling of the money. This is the only money in the state that pays no expense for the handling and every citizen liable to a poll tax should be urged to pay it, qualify to exercise the right of suffrage and swell the school fund. We can talk out our differences later, but just now we must all pull together for the payment of the tax."

Mr. Hays gave the above explanation in order that people might see that they are contributing to the schools in their own county.

Mother And Baby In Need of Help

Health department workers today reported the pitiful plight of a mother and her infant, residing near the edge of the city, and requested that benevolent people of the Twin Cities render them assistance. Citizens who will assist with money or clothing were requested to get in touch with the health department immediately.

Tax Officer To Hold Office Open

J. H. Hill, tax collector, stated this morning that the tax office, in the temporary quarters of Morgan county courthouse, would remain open until midnight of February 1, receiving poll tax payments. Payments of polls can be made up until midnight of February 1, no payments being credited which are received on February 2nd.

Supt. Morrison Is In Albany-Decatur

Superintendent J. A. Morrison, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad company, was in the Twin Cities today. Mr. Morrison made the trip from his Birmingham headquarters in his private car.

EXPLANATION OF CYANAMID BID IS OFFERED BY BELL

President Questioned
By Republican At Hearing

AMORTIZATION PROVES SNAG

Bell Declines To Give Assurance To Distribute Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—
Suggestion that congress with an accumulation of years of testimony concerning Muscle Shoals before it, may yet decide upon government operation of the project was advanced today by Representative James, of Michigan, ranking republican on the house military committee, which is conducting new marriage on private bids.

James interrupted an explanation of the American Cyanamid company's bid, by the concern's president, W. B. Bell, to say he would not be surprised if the committee turned to government operation and rejected all bids.

James favored the early Henry Ford bid, but has opposed every other private offer produced since then.

He asked Mr. Bell to consider whether he would accept a commission to operate the plant for the government in the event the committee decided upon that course. Bell did not answer.

James made the suggestion when Bell opposed his plan to have the company if its bid is accepted, to agree to pay for Cove Creek dam, which would be built by the government, in 50 years instead of 100. James said that question would have a direct bearing on his vote on the bid. Bell declared, however, while the financing was a simple matter, amortization in 50 years would add considerable to the price of fertilizer to be sold to farmers while James expressed his belief that agriculturists would be willing to pay the increased cost in order to have the dam paid for in 50 years and obtain reduced prices afterward.

Bell explained to the committee that his company proposed to lease the property for 50 years paying as rental a sum equal to eight percent on the government's investment. The whole project would be paid for in 100 years on that plan plan contingent upon a second 50-year lease. He said he would guarantee to produce 20,000 tons of concentrated fertilizer annually after a few years, raising the maximum to 48,000 when the government builds Cove Creek dam above Muscle Shoals. Asked by Representative James if he could raise the figures to 50,000, Bell said he hesitated to oppose the judgment of his engineers and pointed out failure to produce the extra amount would mean forfeiture of the lease and loss of his investment.

Bell could not guarantee, he said, to distribute surplus power at the Shoals over his own transmission line, although he said what power was available, after fertilizer needs had been cared for, would likely be distributed through existing private companies in the territory.

If the government insist that he distribute power, Bell said, he would have to "stand out of the picture."

RIVER RISING

The Tennessee river continued to rise today, the local gauge showing a depth of 7.2 feet here.

BOY FRIENDS WILL FACE 'PEACHES' IN SEPARATION TRIAL

Realtor Reiterates
Denial of Cruelty
To His Bride

HIS LOVE DEAD, BROWNING SAYS

Insists He Did Not ask
Mrs. Heenan to Live
With Them

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—
Edward W. Browning hopes to have 12 former "boy friends" of the former "Peaches" Heenan testify against her when his suit for separation reopens at White Plains Monday.

His counsel says that the "boy friends" are among 100 witnesses who are ready to support Browning.

Browning reiterated his denial of his wife's charge of cruelty; called himself a victim of "too much mother-in-law"; expressed determination to keep his 10-year old adopted daughter, Dorothy Sunshine, out of the litigation and declared a reconciliation with his wife to be impossible.

"Persecution has killed my love for her," he said. "There will positively be no reconciliation. I don't see how I could possibly be expected to forgive Peaches for what she has done for me."

Browning ridiculed testimony of Mrs. Heenan that he had asked her to live with them.

"Did you ever hear of a sane man who invited his mother-in-law to stick around day and night?" he asked.

Peaches is residing at her West End avenue apartment.

Charlotte Mills, 20-year old daughter of the slain choir singer in the Hall-Mills murder case at Somerville, N. J., today was added to the Browning separation case when the real estate man's attorneys announced she had been subpoenaed to appear Monday in White Plains.

Just what testimony Miss Mills is to give to help bolster the wealthy New York realtor's case against his young wife was not vouchsafed by Francis Dale, Browning attorney.

"We can't afford," he said, "to try this case in the newspapers, but it may be said that Miss Mills will be an important witness for my client."

Body of a Third Fireman Sought

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—
The body of a third fireman was sought today in the fire-swept ruins of a seven story building in the lower Eastside in which two firemen lost their lives last night, when three floors collapsed.

Five other firemen, caught in the wreckage, were in the hospital today suffering from fractures, while five others also were injured. The fire started on the third floor in a carbonated water establishment. Chemicals were ignited and several explosions occurred. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Hatfield Is Back From Florida Trip

"The Circulator," after circulating over a large area of Florida and sections of South Alabama, is back home today. J. M. Hatfield, circulation manager of the Daily, known to readers of the paper as the author of that occasionally written, but always interesting column "The Circulator Writes Home," returned late yesterday from a motor trip to Florida. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hatfield.

Despite the attractions of the Sunshine State, Mr. Hatfield declared he never before had sufficiently appreciated the beauties of the Tennessee Valley until his return.

COMMISSION FORM PLAN UP FOR THIRD READING BEFORE LEGISLATORS

Governor Graves To Appoint Three
Commissioners If Measure
Is Passed

Advices received here this afternoon were to the effect that the Merger bill providing for the consolidation of Albany, Fairview and Decatur, under the name of the city of Decatur, passed the Senate.

The commission bill, companion to the merger bill, was passed in the house today and now goes to the Senate.

The Commission form of government bill, companion measure to the consolidation measure, which provided for the merging of Albany and Fairview with the city of Decatur, under the name of Decatur, today is before the Alabama House of Representatives for the third reading. The merger bill and companion measure was presented by Representative John Patterson.

The commission measure provides for the appointing of three commissioners by Governor Graves, if passage by the House and Senate is gained. This action would be determined upon after the signature of the governor had been affixed to the bill.

COUNCIL TO TALK FERRY CONDITIONS

License For Year To Be Discussed By Aldermen

The Albany council will meet in a special session tonight to discuss various phases of the ferry situation, including license charge for the ensuing period.

It was considered likely also that the council would discuss the question of rates to be charged for ferry service. Some complaints are alleged to have been received recently regarding ferry charges and this phase of the situation may be gone into by the council.

The ferry will continue to serve travellers on the Bee Line highway for sometime yet, as construction of the highway bridge has been delayed at least one month by adverse weather, and city officials thought it wise to work out a solution of the problem with ferry operators.

DEFICIENCY BILL UP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—(AP)—
The $184,000,000 deficiency bill headed toward a vote in the senate today, after having withstood democratic attempts to clothe it with tax reduction amendments. It still had another last-minute rider of a similar nature to conquer, but republican leaders had planned to block this, like the others, with a point of order.

MINER KILLED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 28.—(AP)—
One miner was reported killed and 20 others were trapped today by fire in the Connellsville by-products mine here.

Has a Picture Made of Catch To Prove Words

"You said something the other day about catching fish," said Mr. L. Hopkins, local business man today, and Mr. Hopkins pulled a photograph from a neat folder, displaying a catch of 19 small mouth bass, which he declared weighed 30 pounds. Mr. Hopkins declared he caught the fish in a little more than three hours at Town creek branch.

"Before those fish wig-gling," said Mr. Hopkins, "I went to P. D. Price and had the picture made." Mr. Hopkins furnished proof with his story, thus substantiating his claim beyond the ordinary credit given to "fish stories." The business man explained that the creek, back waters of the Tennessee, is filled with fish as the result of recent floods.

Representative Patterson today informed the Daily that the commission measure had been presented, reported favorably by the committee having the measure in charge, and is up for the third reading today before the House of Representatives.

The consolidation measure was passed by the House several days ago and is now ready for Senate sanction.

Representative Patterson declared that the two measures would be placed before the Senate at the same time, owing to the prevalent belief that the legislature will adjourn shortly.

In answer to the query regarding when the legislature would adjourn, Mr. Patterson said, "I don't know when the legislature will adjourn, but if I am given two more days, I can put both bills through the Senate."

GREENHILL GIVES TERM REGULATION

Second Half School
Year Will Begin
Next Monday

N. F. Greenhill, superintendent of the Albany school system, today reminded parents and prospective students of the opening of the second half of the school year, beginning Monday, January 31. Mr. Greenhill asked that the following regulations be made known to the public:

"Children who will become six years of age before February 14 may enter the first grade at this time. Pupils who have not reached this age may enter the junior first grade on the payment of a tuition fee of $4.00 per month, provided the sections are not too crowded. All parents desiring their children to enter school during the second term should see that they enter on the first day of the term, January 31. No pupils will be admitted to junior first grade after February 14."

It is anticipated by school authorities that quite an increase in school enrollments will result with the opening of the second term.

Records Showing 1530 Polls Paid

Records in the Morgan county tax collector's office show that an estimate of 1530 poll taxes to have been paid, is safe. These figures, however, do not include the number of taxes collected at any of the local banks or through various Hartselle agencies which are declared to be very busy with poll tax collecting. J. H. Hill, collector, stated today that the poll hardly ever runs beyond 3,000 to 3,500 in paid taxes, the remaining number of voters being over age, or exempt for army service, or other reasons.

WETS PUT U. S ON BROAD PATHWAY TO ANARCHY--McADOO

DISREGARD FOR ALL LAW OF PROHIBITION SCORED BEFORE OHIO BAR MEET

Democratic "Possible President" Denies Dry Law Is Reason For Present Crime Wave

By International News Service
TOLEDO, Jan. 28.—William Gibbs McAdoo, speaking today before the Ohio State Bar Association on "Prohibition, Nullification and Lawlessness," charged that disregard of the Eighteenth Amendment, not only by individuals but by state governments, is taking the United States down the "slippery path which leads to anarchy."

"It is the negation of the majority rule," he stated, "it sets up that very tyranny of the minority which the opponents of prohibition assail so loudly."

The former secretary of state and candidate for the democratic nomination to the presidency denounced the "campaign to secure nullification of the constitution" and "widespread advocacy of lawlessness by the opponents of prohibition."

"Not only do they refuse obedience," he said, "but they are engaged in a vast propagandist enterprise to secure nullification of the private action of individuals."

In furtherance of this campaign, McAdoo charged, numerous men of prominence are making violation of the prohibition laws as a "duty," a moral duty comparable to that which inspired the early Christians to resist the persecutions of Christianity under the Roman Empire.

Arguments Not Consistent
"Are these arguments consistent with popular government?" the speaker asked. "Are they not rather a short-sighted appeal to lawlessness which, if repeated frequently enough, will break down the very basis of obedience to law."

between the two countries," McAdoo stated, "the figures should indicate that at least the evil in this country is one of long standing, and that there has been a decrease in crimes of violence, at least in certain parts of the country, since the adoption of prohibition."

Regarding enforcement of the law and the amendment McAdoo told the bar association that under the constitution, as interpreted by the Supreme Court itself, an actual obligation rested upon the states either to pass legislation parallel to the Volstead Act, or to adopt the provisions of the Act, so as to provide competent local enforcement of prohibition.

In referring to the repeal of state liquor laws, such as has occurred in New York State and in Montana, the speaker held that in reality such repeal was unconstitutional, and the laws still stood on the statute books, because no laws were passed as substitutes for the ones repealed.

In explaining this view he drew a comparison with a federal case. The amendment, according to the decision of the Supreme Court, calls upon congress to pass an enforcement law, such as it did in adopting the Volstead Act. Such a law being in effect, congress would not be able to repeal it, without providing an adequate substitute, as such a repeal would be held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, he stated.

Only One Legal Course
Likewise, if congress adopted a substitute legalizing the sale of light wine and beer, this would of necessity be declared null and void by the Supreme Court as unconstitutional, and the Volstead Act would remain on the books. This statement was offered as an answer to the "wine and beer" advocates.

McAdoo reiterated that there is one and only one legal course for opponents of prohibition to take, and that is the passing of a constitutional amendment repealing the Eighteenth amendment.

"In many states the opponents of prohibition are too impatient to pursue this course," he stated, "because they claim that the methods

HARMONY AGAIN RULING SOLONS

Adjournment Now Is Set For Fifteenth Legislative Day

MONTGOMERY, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Re-establishment of harmony in the Alabama legislature, featured by adjournment on the 15th legislative day, as suggested by members of the house, and passage of the administration convict measures, amended to conform with the wishes of the house, was forecast today by legislative leaders.

No outward manifestation of harmony was made, however, when the house adjourned at noon today until Tuesday afternoon, after disregarding a joint senate resolution calling for adjournment this afternoon. Adjournment was taken immediately following passage of a number of local bills.

The senate passed its bill making employment of convicts in mines and under lease a felony, but with an amendment which would allow the leasing to continue until December 31, instead of March as the bill originally specified.

A bill creating the 22nd judicial circuit of Alabama in Madison county was introduced by Representative Hampton. Ashcraft, of Lauderdale, introduced a bill creating a legislative commission on erection of an Alabama memorial building. A bill appropriating $15,000 for each secondary agricultural school in the state was introduced by Fite of Marion.

Local bills passed by the house included extension of city limits of Demopolis and requiring county officers of Mobile, who are on a fee basis, to make monthly reports of collection and disbursements.

A feature of the house session was the removal from the adverse calendar of a bill by Stewart, of Bibb, changing the membership of the county board of election registrars from three to one. This was the first bill brought to the floor of the house during the present session, which had previously received favorable committee reports.

provided in the constitution for amending its provisions is too tedious and complicated to afford hope of prompt relief. This claim is hardly consistent with the other claim which they are making at the same time, to the effect that the Eighteenth Amendment was only adopted because of the improper facility with which new provisions can be written into and out of our fundamental law."

In further denying that the amendment was "sneaked over," McAdoo pointed out that prior to 1918 prohibition had been adopted in thirty-two of the forty-eight states.

Perolio To Ask For Refrigerator

Dr. A. J. Perolio, director of the Tennessee Valley laboratory, planned to appear before the Albany council, in special meeting tonight, and ask for financial assistance in obtaining a refrigerating system which will permit the local laboratory to carry at all time treatment for rabies.

It has been pointed out that if the refrigeration facilities of the local laboratory were such that these treatments could be kept here, instead of in Montgomery, that many valuable hours would be saved in procuring them for victims of rabid animals throughout the Tennessee Valley.

Woodall Will Attend Meeting

W. J. LAWRENCE STUDIES VOCATIONAL WORK

Second Teacher To Be Placed, Hope Of County

By E. M. HODSON
MOULTON, Ala., Jan. 28.—Special—Mr. Sargent, representing J. B. Hobdy, director of vocational agriculture in the state educational work, was in Lawrence county early in the week looking over the possible places for placing the second vocational teacher in the county. About six years ago a teacher of vocational agriculture was placed in the Town Creek school. The work has proved highly successful. Since the establishment of the department in the Town Creek high school there has been a demand for a second teacher in the county, either at Moulton in the county high or at Mount Hope. The department in Montgomery promises the possible placement of another teacher this year.

The high school at Mount Hope already has a workshop erected. Each place offers a splendid opportunity for the type of work that is done. The State and Federal requirements are that the local community furnish a workshop and agricultural class room, equipment costing about $600.00, and provide a maintenance fund of $150.00 the year. The State and Federal government pay three-fourths of the salary of the teacher and half the travel allowance of $400.00 the year, travel being reckoned at ten cents the mile.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunate ones who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Half a million dollars Saved IN MORGAN COUNTY

There are 3343 automobiles registered in Morgan county. 2221, or two-thirds of the total number are FORDS.

2221 motor car owners in Morgan county saved half a million dollars or more on the purchase price by choosing FORD.

It's the saving of money, backed by the dependability of the car and the assurance of efficient dealer service, which make FORD the preference of more Morgan county motorists than all other makes combined.

The preference for FORD trucks is even greater than for Ford cars. Of 333 trucks registered in the county, 247, or nearly three-fourths, are FORDS.

Gay Moore and her cousin Christine Noe, who have been raised together by Gay's parents, affectionately called Jamie and Mary, are employed in the Wall Street house of Johnstone Baird, Christine as telephone operator and Fay as a typist. Christine has determined on making a rich marriage and sees opportunity knocking on her door in the person of Roger Pennington, chum of Stanley Baird. She wants Gay to leave home and take an apartment in Greenwich Village. Gay refuses. Gay is strongly attracted to Stanley Baird, and on returning from luncheon one day finds a box of yellow roses on her desk, which she surmises have been sent by Stanley. Peggy Baird and her friend, Mimi Brooks, come to the office and on making an insulting request of Christine, are "put in their place" by Christine to the intense amusement of Stanley, who leaves the office with them. As Gay watches their departure, little chills creep around her heart.

Saturday with its half holiday comes, Gay and Christine have planned luncheon and a window shopping tour. However, they find Stanley Baird and Roger Pennington waiting in Stan's roadster. The girls are prevailed upon to go to luncheon with the young men. They motor to a roadside, and Stanley acknowledges that he had sent Gay the roses. Christine makes rapid headway in her siege on Penny's affections, while Gay preserves a quiet calm that appeals to Stanley. On the way home Christine tells Gay that she has Stan "going" and advises her to "thaw" if she wants to win love.

CHAPTER 8

The Moore family went to church the next day.

Summer Sundays always stole upon Moorelands softly, deliciously; the country quiet was velvet fingered, pressing down sleep upon the tressed, dark head; the head aureoled in mistle gold.

A buttery odor came up from the kitchen, to blend with dreams; Mary's voice called, from the foot of the stairs, "Girls! You'll be late!"

"Yellow eyes, gray eyes, peering at each other across the room."

"Gee, Gay—why can't we sleep for once? I don't want to go to church!"

"Well, I think you'd better. You know how Jamie feels. Come on—beat you dressing!"

"Hum. When I'm rich I'll sleep all day Sunday with meal in bed!"

Waffles for breakfast! Mary bustling. "Well, now, nearly ten o'clock. I'll leave the dishes—"

Jaimie rather solemn in Sabbath black. "Shall we ride, girls?" looking at Mary. Christine's voice, exasperated:

"That junky old car! Sounds like a Halloween party. Let's walk."

So they walked, slowly, to the chapel under the tamaracks on the hill; they sat in the yellow-green light that fell through the windows sedately, Jaimie on the aisle.

Gay thrilled to the simplicity, the peace of it, her eyes like stars;

Christine dangled her feet in the water. "Some time," she said to Gay, "I am going to have a villa on Long Island."

stole a hand toward Christine, critical and remote.

Christy preferred a city church, all arches and dim vistas, all elegance; not this tiny, ancient building with the people they had known all their lives. Gay thought of Penny's arm around her cousin in the car the day before. The Noe blood—Poor Christy!

After dinner the girls swam in the little lake.

An uneventful day, like all their days at home. Tedious to Christine; filling Gay with a sense of beauty. Destiny was building upon such days for them both, though they didn't know it then. Building for Christine, avid of life, eager to let this go. Building for Gay, with her true sense of values; her capacity for unbreakable bonds.

Christine dangled her feet in the water, studying the old stone house.

"Sometimes I'm going to have a villa on Long Island. The most gorgeous one on the North Shore with a private beach and a yellow awning on the pier. And cypresses marching in a line."

"Well, don't you like our trees, Christy? Not many own a living Christmas tree so near the house they can hang presents on it and have real snow for decoration."

"You don't get me, Gay. Anyway we've just got to have a place in town. We've got to have somewhere to entertain the kind of friends we'll do us some good. Honestly, can you imagine Penny and Stan fitting in here?"

"Sitting in the living room, with Jaimie telling them about the north lot he's turning into pasture, and Mary handing out lemonade and doughnuts? Can you, Gay?"

Scarlet ran along Gay's chin; she stood up. "No," she said, "I can't."

FLORENCE MAN CHOSEN TRUSTEE

T. M. Rogers Will Take Place On Athens Board

By D. L. ROSENBAU, JR.

ATHENS, Ala., Jan. 23.—T. M. Rogers of Florence has been named a member of the board of trustees of Athens College, to succeed C. F. Cross of Gadsden, deceased, it was announced by Mrs. J. H. McCoy, president of the institution this week. Mr. Rogers is a partner in the Rogers Department Store of Florence and is known as one of the most prominent business leaders in the Tri-Cities. His election came as the result of the great interest and active support he has given the institution during the past year.

New Preacher For Christians

Dr. E. J. Willis, for the past ten years pastor of the First Christian church of Henderson, Ky., has accepted a call by the congregation of the First Christian church of Athens and will enter upon his active ministry here on the first Sunday in February. The local church has been without a minister for several months and feels quite flattered at securing Mr. Willis, who has held a number of important charges in the church. The church parsonage was sold sometime ago, and pending the erection of a new one Dr. Willis will reside in a new cottage on East street, recently erected by Col. M. K. Clements, county superintendent of education.

Operated For Appendicitis

Miss Lucille Christopher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Christopher of near Bethel in this county, who is attending school in Nashville, is reported to be recovering from an attack of appendicitis with which she was stricken at school last week-end. She was rushed to the hospital for attention and is now safely on the road to recovery.

Leaving For South America

Clay Rawls and Malone Hagen, local young men, expect to leave within the next week or ten days for Columbia and other South American countries for an indefinite stay. While their trip is partly for pleasure, the young men expect to locate in one of the South or Central countries. Mr. Rawls has been assistant postmaster in the Athens office for the past several years and during the past season he and Mr. Hagen have been in the cotton business.

Limestone Boy Given Fellowship

Leonard G. Brackeen, of Limestone, has been awarded a fellowship at Auburn in the College of Agriculture to specialize on fertilizer research. The fellowship will last until 1930, and in Brackeen's case is considered an added honor in that it was awarded to him while still an undergraduate.

Political Boat Will Be Kept By New Governor

MONTGOMERY, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The trusty "flivver" in which Governor Bibb Graves conducted his campaign over Alabama last summer is to remain a part of the official family, although it now shares the official gubernatorial garage with a high-priced car presented to the Governor by ex-service men of Alabama.

The modest car is highly prized by Governor Graves, who threatens to use it occasionally when going to his office as of yore, although the office is now the highest one in the state.

The gift from the ex-service men is sufficiently fine to require the services of a chauffeur, and the governor, who has already set a sharp pace in public work, has indicated that he will feel more like a working man with the "flivver" in reserve.

Mrs. Graves also favors keeping the small car which served the family faithfully before the state's highest honor was conferred upon her husband, and indicated that even if its use in the future becomes restricted, the car will not be disposed of.

GO TO CULLMAN

Albany Hi basket tossers will journey down to Cullman on February 1, to take a shot at St. Bernard college, in an effort to hand the Saints some measure of defeat which might balance the overwhelming football defeat of the past season.

PRODUCER COMING

Jimmy Collins, producer of the Parisian Follies and handler of the Dale Troy band, is expected to be here early next week. Mr. Collins will discuss proposals for a production he desires to place here.

CABLES STATE MISSIONS SAFE

A Shanghai Message Tells Of This Condition

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 23.—(AP)—All Alabama missionaries in China, as well as other Southern Methodist Episcopal church missionaries there, are safe, mission board headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., has been informed in a cable received from the headquarters of the China mission at Shanghai.

Serious anti-foreign outbreaks in China have caused apprehension among Methodist churchmen here for the safety of missionaries, and an inquiry was dispatched by Dr. W. G. Cram, general secretary of the mission board, and Dr. O. E. Goddard and Miss Esther Case, secretaries of foreign work.

Full information was asked of the missionaries and they were given instructions to proceed at once to places of safety. The cable reply from the Shanghai mission headquarters read as follows: "All are safe; will inform you."

Personal letters are being written by foreign secretaries reassuring relatives of missionaries in China of their safety.

Approximately 120 Southern Methodist missionaries are in China at present, although some of them are on furlough.

The Alabama delegation is made up of: Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Whiteside, North Alabama conference, (Soochow); the Rev. A. C. Bowen (on furlough); Miss Louise Robinson, of Albany, (Soochow); Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Nelson, Alabama conference, (Huchow); Miss Ruth Brittain, of

Your Income Tax

NO. 11

A person may receive for his services compensation other than money that is subject to the income tax.

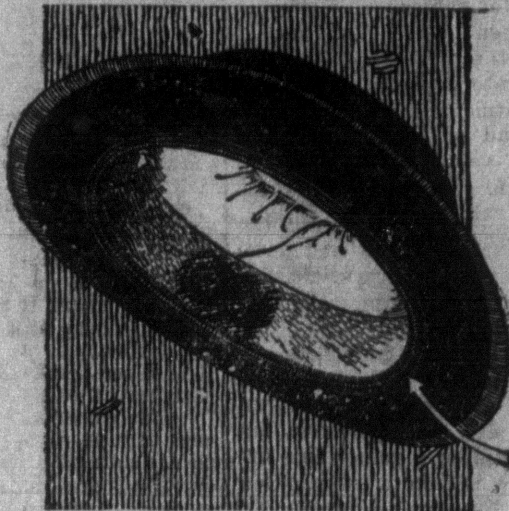

The fair market value of the thing taken in payment is the amount to be included as income. For example, if a clerk in a grocery store receives as part of his wages groceries or provisions, the market value of the merchandise must be reported by him as income. Compensation paid an employee of a corporation in shares of stock is to be treated as if the corporation sold the stock for its market value and paid him in cash.

Promissory notes received in payment for services and not merely as security for payment constitute income to the amount of their fair market value. A taxpayer receiving as compensation a note good for its face value at maturity, but not bearing interest, may treat as income as of the time of receipt the fair discounted value of the note at such time. If the payments are met as they become due these should be included as income in respect to each such payment so much thereof as represents recovery for the discount deducted.

Board and lodging when furnished as compensation for services must be included as income. Thus, a hotel clerk who is given a room and meals as part payment for his services must report the fair value of such in his income tax return.

TODAY
12 Years Ago

From The Daily of January 28, 1915.

Officials this morning stated no trace had been found of the body of Jim Richardson, believed drowned in the Tennessee river Friday night.

S. E. Hammond, of Hartselle, was a visitor here today.

Robert T. Shepard, of the Tremont Lumber Company, of Louisiana, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. R. Shelton.

Joe Pettey has sufficiently recovered to attend to business.

Miss Rose Kassel, of Gastonia, S. C., is the guest of Mrs. A. D. Cohen.

In DeLand, Fla., the driver of a city garbage can was fined for permitting refuse to drop from the wagon into the streets. Clean streets evidently is a serious matter with those Floridians.

Again quoting from The DeLand Daily News, The Daily calls attention to this sage injunction: "Your membership on the chamber of commerce is not a donation by any means. It is an investment in community progress, prosperity and betterment."

One mass meeting was held last night, another will be held Tuesday night, when business men gather to discuss the feasibility of opening a canning factory here. The meeting Thursday evening was important, and the meeting Tuesday night is of equal importance.

An unusual feature, developed by the house-to-house visits of civic committees, interested in keeping the courthouse here, is the fact that a good many women have not yet taken advantage of the privileges conferred upon them by the Susan B. Anthony amendment. They answer to inquiries: "No, I have not paid my poll tax. I do not believe in women voting." Of course, to refrain from voting is equally their privilege, but they should not forget that while they may not care to vote for themselves, their ballots frequently are needed in campaigns to off-set the ballots which may be cast by others. Under the present-day conditions, women are almost forced, in a spirit of self-defense, to use the ballot, whether they care to vote or not.

ONLY THREE MORE DAYS REMAIN FOR YOU TO PAY YOUR POLL TAX.

After today, only three more days remain in which citizens may pay their poll tax and be qualified to vote this year. The Daily realizes that the continual inquiry, "Have you paid your poll tax?" becomes monotonous, but it would be negligent, in view of the importance of the subject, if it did not repeat the question.

This year, by all means, every resident should protect his citizenship by qualifying to vote. It is the duty of every citizen of Morgan county to participate in the elections in this county. Primarily the payment of the tax is a help to the schools, but aside from this feature the citizen who votes is helping his community and by such aid, incidentally, helping himself. Communities are only a congregation of individuals and the individual effort is necessary to perfect good communities.

If you have not already done so, The Daily beseeches you to pay your poll tax now before it is too late. There is no reason for delay. Postponement to the last minute saves you nothing. The tax is the same today as it will be Tuesday. Delay only can enhance the risk you take that some unforeseen difficulty may prevent the payment in time. Pay today.

FARMER GIVES HIS REASON WHY HE WANTS THE COURTHOUSE HERE.

A young farmer of a distant rural point, recently in conversation with a representative of The Daily, advanced an unique theory why he desired that the courthouse remain here. He said:

"In the first place, I first started coming to Decatur when I was a boy and my father brought me here on his periodic trips with produce. As I grew to manhood, the time arrived when I began bringing produce here for sale. I have practiced this for several years now, with the exception of a while when I was in the army. During all the time I have been coming to Albany-Decatur, with things to sell, I have had business at the courthouse only a dozen or so times. I figure that I come to town about ten times as often with produce as I do to transact business at the courthouse. I could get to the courthouse easier in Hartselle than I could here, but would it be more convenient in the long run for me? I figure that it would cost me money. When I come to Albany-Decatur I can always find a market of some kind for my produce. I have a market of about 15,000 people to sell to. I can't figure how I would have that kind of market anywhere else in the county, so I have decided it is money in my pocket to help Albany-Decatur grow bigger, because the bigger they are, the better chance I will have to dispose of the things my farm produces."

The Daily admits it hadn't looked at the proposition from exactly the angle this young planter points out, but his reasoning certainly is deserving of consideration.

BAN JOHNSON BANISHED FROM EXECUTIVE PLACE IN BASEBALL.

Ban Johnson, founder of the American League, still is its president in name, and he still receives a check for $40,000 for his services, but actually he is clothed with no more authority than a rabid fan. President Johnson has been "let out," the owners declare, "because of ill health."

The banishment of the league founder leaves Judge Kennesaw M. Landis in full control of baseball. Those observers who profess to see only injury to the national sport as a result are guilty of dangerous prognostication and The Daily refuses to join them in their forecasts. At the same time, this newspaper sincerely regrets the action of the American League owners in their selection of Landis instead of Johnson as a member of the ruling group of baseball.

For many years Ban Johnson's name has been synonymous with honesty on the diamond. Ever since he organized the American League, he has been the bitter foe of gamblers, dishonest players, rowdies and umpire bating. Largely through his efforts baseball has developed from its turbulent period of infancy into the towering giant it is today. When Ban Johnson took charge of the reins, men constituted the major part of the crowds which went to the small parks of those days. Through his efforts he made the game a place where ladies not only were welcomed, but where they were reasonably certain of protection from any embarrassment from rowdism. That has been the record of Ban Johnson.

Judge Landis' record during the seven years he has been identified with the diamond, in the main has been fairly worthwhile. Yet, it has been spotted here and there with various and sundry instances of apparent "grand-standing" which has not reflected much glory on either the illustrious jurist or baseball as an institution.

Putting the records of the two men side by side, The Daily cannot understand how the American League owners selected that of Judge Landis over that of Ban Johnson. Having done so, The Daily can but wish them the best of luck.

HUNTSVILLE ENJOYS $5,000,000 EXPANSION IN TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

The sincere congratulations of The Daily, on behalf of the people of Albany-Decatur, go to Huntsville. The Daily Times, of that city, announces that the Lincoln Mills, already located there, have begun expenditure of $5,000,000 in construction of new units.

The Times says: Representatives of The Daily Times had the pleasure of visiting the great Lincoln Mills plants and sites this afternoon at 3 o'clock and were given a most pleasing reception by General Agent Aitken.

Let it be said that this man Aitken and his company, in a quiet unassuming way have been and are doing more for the city of Greater Huntsville in the way of progress probably than all other agencies combined.

In other words, he and his company have been quietly going about their business on this large piece of construction without even saying a word about it, but as a matter of information to the public this does not mean that this newspaper has not been in possession of the fact that the activities were underway, however it was desirous of not releasing the big piece of news until Mr. Aitken and his company were ready to give it to the public. This has been happily done this afternoon and we are glad.

There is a most delightful and cordial relation existing between the people of the city of Huntsville and the community of Lincoln village, the two being inseparably linked together for community good and general constructive progress. Therefore no announcement could be fraught with more importance to city-wide development than is Mr. Aitken's authority for this, this afternoon.

The new mill will manufacture a high grade of cotton duck which is used as automobile tire fabrics, tents, awnings and probably 200 other ways in commerce.

Lincoln Mills Numbers 1 and 2 employ some fourteen hundred operatives and besides the 500 new houses that they are to immediately erect, owns and has occupied by its operatives and their families some 500 other houses.

As is well known the Lincoln Mills are located just out of the city's corporate limits on Meridian road to the north of the city proper and possess some of the most valuable properties to have been acquired in that territory.

Since coming to Huntsville, Mr. Aitken has been very active in the building of Lincoln village and in other but quiet unassuming ways he has contributed much to the city's general advancement. He is director in two of the city's leading banking institutions and is otherwise identified with the spirit that is making for a more prosperous community as a whole.

Developments such as this gigantic one make double the assurance that the Tennessee Valley is certain of the development to which this section, by natural advantages and a progressive citizenship, is entitled.

From one end of the valley to the other, there is nothing but development, building and expansion. From the Tri-Cities on the east to Huntsville on the west, this development is in progress and bare, indeed, is the month which fails to bring some outstanding development for the Tri-Cities, Twin Cities or the Madison county capital.

There is, however, a deeper significance to the Huntsville announcement. There was a time, unfortunately for the Valley, when North Alabama idled while Congress debated the fate of Muscle Shoals. Perhaps our residents felt that a beneficent government would do all the developing for us. Happily, that condition has changed. Today the Tennessee Valley is developing and permitting Congress to wrangle over the Shoals. The Tennessee Valley has determined not to wait on the Shoals disposition, but to forge ahead regardless of congressional action, or lack of it.

Seven applications for "homes" in one day, as recorded by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday, indicates that the eyes of a part of the world, at least, are on Albany-Decatur.

A local business man, in speaking of the present situation here, told the Daily yesterday: "If I ever had any doubt about the deep-seated community spirit in the Twin Cities, it has been dissipated. Yesterday when I returned home, my mother told me of an enjoyable visit she had had from a community committee-women in regard to her paying her poll tax so she could vote. I remembered that, at the time of the visit, rain had been pouring and I said to myself that if the good women of these cities are interested enough in their community to brave the elements to that extent, there is nothing under the shining sun to keep Albany-Decatur from forging ahead to their proper place in the sun."

The Views of Others

WILL THEY ACT?

The question that is interesting the people of other states as well as those in North Alabama is whether congress is going to do anything with the Muscle Shoals question at its present session. Congressman Almon has expressed his optimistic belief in the matter. He has done that before and nothing has yet come to pass except continued delay.

It has appeared to the people of this section that congress has had ample time to investigate the matter and now that hearings have again been thrown open it is doubtful whether the congress will do anything at this session. Congressman Madden has submitted a new offer, or a revised offer, from the cyanamid people which appears to be a very favorable proposition. Just how far this will effect the situation is problematical. To the average onlooker it looks as if the continued delay is the most favorable thing in the world for the associated power companies and may mean that in the end they will get the plants.

One of the most pointed statements by a public official on the subject was the one made by Chairman Snell of the rules committee on the floor of the house, when he said:

"I am very much interested in the matter of Muscle Shoals. I do not blame the members of Alabama for the position they have taken here today. I think the people of the country have a right to criticize us for the delay in handling this great natural resource. We have it, and I feel it is up to us to put it to work. I think we have waited long enough for the fertilizer manufacturers and power companies to prepare their bids and make an adequate offer for the property."

"Nobody is more interested in private ownership than I and no one is more opposed to government ownership and operation, but I say that unless a reasonable offer is made within a reasonable time—not a long time; I mean right away, quick—I am in favor of a proposition to put our department of chemistry down there at Muscle Shoals and put it to work. (Applause). Let us use what power is necessary to make experiments, and sell the balance of power as conditions may seem fit. Under present conditions we must pay for these experiments anyway so we might just as well make them without further delay. We should do something speedily and definitely. If those fertilizer and nitrate manufacturers keep fighting among themselves and refusing to make a reasonable offer, it will be up to us to take action and proceed to get a definite return from the investment of that $160,000,000."

"It has been said that those people down there are seeking to buy the power at their own figures. I am not in position to dispute that statement. But if these interested people find out we mean business and are not going to fool any longer, I believe they will make an adequate offer; but if they do not I propose to operate that plant by the government until such a time as some organization wants to take it off our hands on reasonable terms."

Let us hope that this statement will stir the congress to some action. If none of the bids are satisfactory then the congress should adopt government operation of the plant for the benefit of the farmers and the defense of the government in time of war.—Limestone Democrat.

DECATUR'S POPULATION WILL NOW EXCEED 15,000 PEOPLE

The passage of the Albany-Decatur consolidation bill, bringing the two thriving cities into one officially recognized community will now give that wonderful locality an established population of 15,000 or more people. Decatur is the consolidated name adopted and our richest and choicest of congratulations and good wishes are extended. Now for a full team work down that way as a sort of middle ground co-operation in helping us all to build the entire Greater Muscle Shoals district.—Huntsville Daily Times.

NEED OF VACCINATION IS STILL PRESENT

Scourge of Smallpox Practically Conquered in This Country, But Those Who Neglect Precaution Are Always in Danger.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

An effort is being made to induce everybody to be vaccinated. Somehow it is not enough to tell people they ought to be vaccinated. Smallpox is so infrequently met that nobody is alarmed about it any more. We have no particular fear of bears unless they are running around in our neighborhood. It is the same way about smallpox. We never think about the disease unless there are a number of cases in the community.

Our grandparents lived in a time when smallpox was always present. It is pleasing to know that it is not so alarming a disease as it used to be. One hundred and fifty years ago there was hardly a prominent person in Europe who was not pock-marked. All this is changed, yet we have no particular reason in America to be proud of the smallpox situation.

DR. COPELAND

In 1925 there were 702 deaths from small pox in the United States. There were nearly 42,000 cases of the disease reported. In the one state of Minnesota there were 128 deaths, so you see smallpox has not disappeared from the face of the earth.

In countries where vaccination is unknown smallpox continues to be one of the chief causes of death. In India, for example, in 1924 there were 633,000 deaths from this disease in India. Over half a million persons died of smallpox in Russia between 1902 and 1914.

Smallpox is a disease which is a terrible thing, not alone to adults, but also to the children. In Arabia, for example, 50 per cent to 75 per cent of all children born died of smallpox. There is a saying in India, "Never count children as permanent members of the family until they have been attacked with, and recovered from smallpox."

It isn't necessary to have smallpox. Vaccination is an almost certain means of prevention. Of the 163 persons who died in Detroit from smallpox in 1924, 142 had never been vaccinated and 19 persons had been vaccinated ten or more years before taking this disease. In Los Angeles in that same year of 2,461 persons who had smallpox, 97 per cent had never been vaccinated and there were no deaths among those who had been vaccinated.

I have given you these figures because I want you to see how serious smallpox continues to be when it attacks persons who have never been vaccinated.

$1,000,000,000 For Golf.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1926, by The Star Co., For Albany-Decatur Daily).

In offering Mr. Brisbane's daily editorials The Daily does not necessarily concur with his opinions, but offers them as the sentiments of the highest paid editorial writer in this country.

ON MONDAY NIGHT, to amuse a typical prize ring assemblage, a boy of seventeen, Leo Maham, amateur and inexperienced, fought and was knocked unconscious. Tuesday he died, a blow in the stomach did it.

If you ask why a country forbidding assault and battery on the street, permits that brutality in the prize ring, the answer is that prize fighting is profitable, politicians get part of the profit, and make laws accordingly.

AT TREAVES in France, archeologists, have unearthed a temple built by ancient Gauls fearing "only that the sky will fall upon us," as they said to Alexander. They erected it to the Persian God, Mithras, once powerful diety of light and the sun, with followers far outnumbering those of Jehovah.

No false god, Mithras or any other, could survive without permission of the real God, of course. But at one time it looked as though Mithras seated in his hill, with the morning and evening stars beside him, would rule all Europe.

Fortunately, St. Paul could make no headway with Christianity in Asia, so he came to Europe to do his work, and wiping out Mithraism was part of it.

Mithra, the great god of night "friend of man" is as dead now as the brave old Gauls that built his temple, or the bull upon which he sat, plunging his knife into it.

NO LOW descending sun ever finds Mussolini winding up an idle day. Among other things the Italian dictator is Italy's air minister. Our "take it easy" government will please note that Mussolini expects by spring to have a gigantic air fleet, powerful enough to paralyze any enemy that should start a war.

NO VICTORY can be won by soldiers on the ground. But if war should start, and a hundred airplanes dropping TNT were immediately dispatched to destroy big cities in an enemy country, though it had 1,000,000 armed men, that country might be begging for peace before nightfall.

Those responsible for the welfare and safety of American cities please think it over.

IF North and South America cannot set before the rest of the world an example of peace and common sense, something is wrong with North or South America. This year the Latin republics will spend $100,000,000 developing railroads and most of the money will be borrowed in the United States. Chile is negotiating a $40,000,000 loan in New York to electrify the Chilean state railway. Apparently those South American republics have public officials sufficiently honest and competent to manage state railways.

THE financing of desirable industrial enterprises in South America by United States banks is a useful investment for American money, better than lending money to Europe to keep up fighting equipment.

SWEDISH engineers and financiers undertake to build Turkish railroads for Kemal Pasha and exploit Turkey's forests and coal fields.

The Swedish syndicate "will probably turn to New York for a loan." That also will be money well loaned. Building railroads and industry means fighting poverty and fighting poverty means fighting war.

ONE BILLION dollars will be spent on new golf courses and clubhouses this year, including the cost of 1,000 new clubs starting and maintenance of old clubs. If the nation could build a thousand new flying machines one for each new golf club, to protect the links and placid gentlemen playing on them, it would be a good thing.

INCREASED tension between the Vatican and Mussolini's government is shown by the Pope's order disbarring Catholic scout organizations in Italian cities of less than 20,000 population. Mussolini has announced his intention to discourage Catholic Boy Scout competition with his fascist Boy Scouts. The Pope's letter shows that the Catholic scouts were disbarred because of Mussolini's threat. The Pope's letter says: "We wish to spare them (the Fascist government) the ungrateful task of dissolving so many sections of good and peaceful young explorers in which the population of small centers took so much pride."

The Pope's letter quotes King David's word to God: "If we must die, let it be by your hand rather than by the hand of men."

RIVOTTI GARIBOLDI, convicted of helping Catalonia in her struggle for independence, wonders whether this government will call him an "undesirable" if he comes.

Catalonia is to Spain what Ireland was, until lately, to Great Britain, a dissatisfied, coerced territory.

Garibaldi, grandson of the great man who made Italy a nation, is like Lafayette, a man inclined to fight with the weak against the strong. It would be amusing if this country should say to him, "Keep out."

By COPELAND C. BURG
CHICAGO.—(INS) — Naughty Chicago, with its machine-gun killers, its warring beer barons, its countless thugs and villains generally, is showing another side today.

The city is in an uproar because a ferocious hawk has attacked a group of pigeons which for years thrived at the Chicago Art Institute.

For days the hawk has defied the city's most able sharpshooters and continued his attacks on the doves, despite thousands of demands by bird lovers that the pigeons be protected.

Such an intense furor has been created over the hawk's ravages that Chicago's crowded newspapers have devoted columns to the incident.

Hundreds of letters have been received by city officials and newspapers daily, begging the hawk be killed.

One lone man wrote that the hawk should be "given a medal." This provoked a new avalanche of letters, many readers demanding court action against the writer who opposed the pigeons' serenity.

A girl wrote one newspaper for years she had visited the downtown section of Chicago three or four times each week and that always she brought a "five pound sack of food" for the pigeons.

Scores of others wrote that for many seasons, in and out, they had watched the pigeons being fed by "the man with the Vandyke beard." They related the bearded person daily fed the pigeons from his hand and that he had trained several of the doves to climb on his shoulders in the street and receive their meals unmindful of the thousands of passersby surging down Michigan Boulevard.

Several women writers demanded men held in jails, pending investigation of machine-gun killings in Chicago, be taken from their cells for a day and ordered to kill the hawk.

Mayor Dever has been asked to assign the best shots in the police department to a chase of the hawk, which is reported to have killed scores of the doves.

Various awards of from $100 up have been offered by citizens to the person killing the hawk.

Every winter more than 75,000 homeless, jobless men flock to Chicago and daily during the cold season 4,000 men are cared for at the municipal lodging house.

Study of the inmates of the house indicate, according to officials, that lack of education and training account for the men being forced to depend on charity.

A study of 500 men at the city lodgings showed only seven earned $1,000 in a year. More than 25 per cent of the 500 said they were paid less than $250 for the work they did in a year. One-third of the 500 closely studied were of foreign birth, made up largely of Scandinavians, Irish, Polish or German immigrants.

Year-round operation of the city's lodging house and establishment of a farm colony for the jobless workers drifting in and out of Chicago is planned.

College presidents and deans, attending the annual meeting of the Association of American colleges in Chicago, revealed they are alarmed by the so-called "revolt of youth."

Because young men of today act differently at college than years ago is a good sign, the college heads said, showing initiative and a willingness to lead and not to be led.

AFTERNOON BRIDGE PARTY FOR VISITOR

Miss Gladys Thomas, of Athens, who is visiting Mrs. Robert Gray, was the guest of honor at the bridge party given on Thursday by Mrs. B. A. Turner. Gorgeous American Beauty roses in silver baskets and vases enhanced the beauty of the home of the hostess on Johnston street. Places were marked at the card tables with red baskets, filled with candies, tally cards, both of these being decorated with ribbon and hearts.

Delightful games of bridge were played at five tables and those enjoying them were Miss Thomas, Mrs. Robert Gray, Mrs. J. W. Boggs, Mrs. W. A. Schaefer, Mrs. J. R. Doss, E. N. Penick, Mrs. Andrew Perolio, Mrs. E. E. Peden, Mrs. B. M. Bloodworth, Mrs. Geo. Clem, Mrs. Dick Kennedy, Mrs. A. C. Bailey, Mrs. Harry Malone, Mrs. Henry Davis, Mrs. Ponsonby Kyle, Mrs. Phillip, Mrs. R. Buchanan, Miss Jeanne Buchanan, Mrs. E. T. Rushing and Mrs. Ellen Ballas.

Mrs. Gray made the highest score and was given a decorated vase as memento. After the games the cards were out for the consolation.

tion and Mrs. Doss received a crystal bon bon as prize. Miss Thomas was presented a souvenir. The guests were served with a delicious salad and sweet course at the tables following the game.

MRS. BRAGG, BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. John Bragg, who entertained the Silk Stocking Club on Thursday afternoon at her pretty apartment on Grant street, had two tables of guests including Mrs. Ella Ruane, Mrs. E. E. Adams, Mrs. E. B. Garner, Miss Marjory Beard, Miss Elizabeth Hornbrook, Mrs. R. T. Sheppard, Mrs. George Wallace and Mrs. H. L. Peterson. Valentine decorations were used.

Two prizes were offered for high scores, one pair silk nose to the member of the club making top and the other a vase to the visitor. These were won by Mrs. Joe Woods and Mrs. R. T. Sheppard. On the cut for consolation, Mrs. S. E. Patterson was presented a guest as a memento.

A chicken salad course was served by the hostess.

BRIDGE EIGHT

The Bridge Eight met with Mrs.

E. B. Garner on Wednesday at her lovely home on Oak street.

The games of bridge were enjoyed by the club members and the following guests, Mrs. Robert S. Banks, Miss Louise Bynonaugh, Mrs. Rogers, Miss Marjory Beard, Miss Elizabeth Hornbrook, Miss Mary Jervis, and Mrs. Dick Kennedy. At the conclusion the scores were counted and Mrs. R. L. Thomas was awarded the club prize and Miss Bynonaugh the guest souvenir.

A delectable salad course was passed at a late hour.

MRS. RANDOLPH ENTERTAINS

Mrs. C. J. Randolph opened her apartment on Johnston street where she has recently moved, to some of her friends on Thursday afternoon and at this time Valentine motifs were used in the decorations and other details including the very tempting two-course luncheon that was served at the card tables following the game.

Mrs. O. P. Stinson was presented the club prize, Mrs. Spence the trophy for the lowest scoring club member, Mrs. Melvin Hutson the top guest souvenir and Mrs. Earl Proctor the guest trophy.

This hospitality was extended to the club members and Mesdames, Melvin Hutson, Elmer Bussey, Earl Proctor, Sam Rogers and Charles Matthews.

UNION MEETING

Some New Chiffons Are All Untrimmed

One Dance Frock Is Excessively Plain, the Other Intriguingly Cut.

By Annette Bradshaw.

THE smartest evening gatherings of the moment show rather divided sympathies.

On the one hand may be seen the excessively plain chiffon frocks which Paris has just introduced, entirely devoid of trimming. On the other are the heavily beaded gowns, still enjoying wide popularity. It remains for the wearer to pick her type—or to enjoy an interesting variety.

The effectiveness of the very simple gowns is shown here. Both are of chiffon, one in white and the other in very pale green. Both rely entirely on the beauty of their cut and material for their smartness.

At the left is the white model, the rather fitted bodice caught snugly at the back with a large bow of the material. The green chiffon at the right has its back length trimmed with deep cut petals of the green chiffon.

Frocks such as these are smart without jewels, or with a discreet use of pearl necklaces and a simple bracelet or two. One who is fond of thickly jeweled ornaments should save these for an evening when a less simple frock is the choice.

A very plain chiffon frock is smart with simple satin pumps to match, and with the new evening stockings of sheer silk in a mesh design. These newer hose are shown in all evening colors and in gold thread, the latter being stunning when worn with gold slippers.

Mrs. J. N. Gibson on East Lafayette street. Prohibition was discussed and a drive for new members was planned.

Everyone interested is cordially invited to join the W. C. T. U. and it is hoped that the membership roll will be greatly increased in the near future.

MISS THOMAS AND MRS. McANN TO BE HONORED

Miss Gladys Thomas and Mrs. Sim McAnn, both of Athens, will share honors at the bridge party to be given on Friday evening by Mrs. Robert Gray, whom they are visiting.

PARIS. (INS)—Casino gowns are the all-important ones at this season of the year.

They really mean those for afternoon as well as evening. Sometimes the Casino gown even means that worn in the morning which would be precisely the same as what is seen on the promenade. In the afternoon they may be more elegant, that is to say, out of the sports classification and attain themes in lace and chiffon or satin and maroon. While for dinner-time, the frock may be in velvet, such as one that Chantal makes, with fitted neckline and crushed grille and the wee-yoke worked with alternate rows of black velvet and net.

"Un Souffle" for Casino wear comes from Yvet in yellowish-green chiffon with two founces in the skirt, cut like petals and the bodice made on simple lines. More elaborate is a red velvet with a deep band of ostrich at the bottom of the skirt in degraded tones commencing dark and finishing with the color of the velvet. It is extended to the hips on one side where it is caught by a huge rhinestone buckle. The neckline is fitted and caught near the normal waistline by a crushed girdle which finishes with velvet streamers that peer out of the ostrich at the side.

Mr. Persson's Laziness Expensive; DeForest, Trainer, Out a Million

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Did you ever hear the one about the man who was too lazy to make a million dollars? Laugh now, and show your molar. Professor Jimmy de Forest has heard of him. James, in fact, knows him well; too well, perhaps.

For James is by profession, instinct and the sweat of his brow a developer and trainer of boxers and, in the course of human events, it is his custom to profit as a result of the association. That is what angers James now. He thought he had a million dollars worth of heavyweight Swede and then the next thing he knew all he had was a tired business man they called Harry Persson.

Harry, it seems, was so tired that he sat down to shave himself, eading the professor to wonder whether he was a Swede at all. I think the professor suspected he was a nephew of Sitting Bull.

It seems to be James' lot to get himself mixed up with pugilistic gentlemen who harbor an aversion for exercise. He handled Luis Firpo, the well-known human being, until the latter decided that all work and no play made Luis a bum fighter. He overestimated the situation, however. He always was a bum fighter.

The professor himself agrees that Persson was and is a better man than Firpo at any stage of the latter's career. He means, of course, in the ring. Outside the ropes, the records speak for themselves. Luis got the money and Harry got little or nothing beyond a punch in the nose from Jimmy Maloney. In both cases, the professor was short changed.

He admits, perforce, that Persson might never have reached the million dollar goal but at the same time he can't forget that, two months ago, the Swede's chances were no worse than the next man's. However, that was two months ago. Today, Persson is no longer with us, living languidly accepted passage to Sweden. He simply was too bored with life to do himself any good.

"He wouldn't walk, he wouldn't run, he wouldn't box," says the professor in his best platform manner. His discourse seemed to be at an end. But suddenly inspiration seized him.

"He wouldn't even think," he added triumphantly.

COBB ANNOUNCES RETURN TO GAME

Vindicated Star Says He Feels Bound to Play a Year

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Ty Cobb today definitely announced that he would return to baseball this year.

The former manager of the Detroit Tigers said he was "going back for one more big year," after having been vindicated by Commissioner of Baseball Landis in Chicago of charges brought by "Dutch" Leonard, but that he had not decided where he would play.

Cobb considers himself a free agent.

"I fully intend to retire permanently," the Georgia Peach continued, "but since the last few games in which I played are under a cloud of suspicion, I feel honor bound to get back into baseball."

LUDEX'S MENTHOL COUGH DROPS

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

NO RAINFALL

Despite overcast skies and threatening weather there was no rainfall in the previous day, the government bureau announced today. Rain again was falling here this afternoon, however.

FREIGHT AGENT HERE

Lee Clary, division freight agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, with headquarters in Birmingham, was a visitor here today. He was accompanied by L. J. Faist, traveling freight agent.

FOOT IMPROVES

Milton Andrews, popular freight agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company here, who suffered a painful injury to his left foot some weeks ago, is recovering. Use of a cane, however, still is necessary. While supervising the loading of an automobile, a sheet of metal fell on his foot, severely mashing the member.

BAPTISTS ELECT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—(AP)—M. D. Adams, president of Georgetown college, Georgetown, Ky., was re-elected president of the Southern Baptist Education Association here today. The Rev. J. W. Cammack, of Birmingham, was elected secretary.

Lowly Mule, In $600 Damage Suit, Moves Supreme Court To Eulogy

RALEIGH, N. C.—(AP)—The lowly mule, unsung in literature and lore, has been designated by the North Carolina Supreme Court as the most unloved and abused of all animals.

And there's no telling when one will kick, and the only way to escape from being kicked is to stay away from mules, the same high body holds.

The ruling came in the case of Mrs. Sam Rector versus the Southern Coal Company, in which the tribunal reversed the lower court which refused to grant a non-suit in a personal injury case in which the plaintiff was awarded $600 damages.

Associate Justice Brodgen did the writing in the case. He claimed to be a mule authority on the basis of the fact that he was a graduate of a farm in Wake county.

"A mule is a melancholy creature," the jurist said. "It is the nullius in law of the animal kingdom. It has been said that a mule has neither pride of ancestry nor hope of posterity."

"Nobody loves or pets a mule. He is kicked and cuffed, beaten and sworn at, and frequently under extremely adverse conditions; yet, withal, he has a grim endurance and a stubborn courage which survives his misfortunes and enables him to do a large part of the world's rough work."

"It is a matter of common knowledge among men who know mules and deal with them that they are uncertain, moody and morose."

Chaplin Forces Old Smile

Not because he was happy, but for the sake of the picture, Charles Chaplin, now being sued for divorce by Lita Grey, produced this smile. It is his latest picture, taken in New York at the home of his attorney, Nathan Burkan.

Police Alarms To Be Paris Change

PARIS.—(INS)—Parisians will soon know what a police-alarm box looks like. Fire-alarms are to be found on nearly every street corner and are very often mistaken for a mail box by the tourist who looks in vain for the little opening for letters, usually to be found in a lamp-post or beneath the window of the cigar-shop.

Up until now street protection has been dependent upon the good-looking policeman who always walk in pairs, but the officials have learned that they cannot be in all places at once.

John D. Still Enjoys Links

By International News Service
ORMOND BEACH, Fla.—Despite the occasional wintry winds that visit Florida in the wake of blizzards and snow storms in the north and west, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., was seen regularly on the Ormond golf links here.

Wearing a wool sweater under his coat and soft gloves to protect his hands, he appeared each morning on the course, usually with General Adelbert Ames, his close companion, or some member of his own family.

Baby Romance Is Shattered; Bride Sent Back Home

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(INS)—Her romance shattered by a stern parent after an elopement and a week of wedded bliss, Mrs. Mary McNeely, 14-year-old bride, was back at her father's home today while her husband who she saved from a possible prison term was back at his chores on a neighboring farm.

Virgil McNeely, farmer boy, was arrested here a few days ago on a charge of kidnapping on a warrant sworn out for him by the girl's father.

But Mary came into court and testified Virgil was a good husband and not a cave-man kidnapper and she married him because she loved him. The youth was dismissed.

The court ruled, however, that Mary being under age must return to her father. McNeely also returned to the home of his parents.

"Just wait until I am old enough", Mary said as she left the courtroom when the marriage was set aside by the court.

State's Oldest Man Sturdy at 111 Age Seeking a Fortune

By International News Service
POPLAR BLUFF, MO.—Missouri's oldest man, Uncle Ben Hodge, III, has come into the limelight during the past few days when it was discovered that he is one of a dozen heirs to a large fortune in England.

Uncle Ben admits he has been corresponding with relatives back in England and he is considered the "key" to a fortune. His grandfather owned large tracts of land in England and Australia. Uncle Ben remembers nothing concerning his relatives, except his parents.

For 40 years he has lived a widower. He has refused aid from relatives and friends. Born in England, he was brought to America when just a boy.

Uncle Ben lives on a tract of land, 40 acres to be exact, away from all the rest of the world. He owns a cow and mule and the land. Uncle Ben still shoulders his gun and goes hunting. He hardly ever misses a shot. He says he will continue to live in his cabin until next spring when he will raise his tobacco and foodstuffs for another winter.

"I am old enough to vote, and don't you worry, they are not going to hornswoogle me out of anything. I'm old enough to be my own boss, you know," Uncle Ben tells members of his family who are trying to claim the fortune in England.

'PASS OUT' SEEN FOR INDEPENDENT

American Farmer To Give Way To Many New Systems

WASHINGTON.—(INS)—The independent, successful farmer is doomed to pass out of importance in America's political and economic life unless a radical change is brought about, according to Rep. Charles J. Thompson, (R) of Ohio, a member of the house agriculture committee which is conducting the farm relief fight in the lower house of Congress.

"Farming is rapidly becoming industrialized under the present system," said Thompson. "Farms are rapidly passing out of the hands of families that have been farmers for generations, and are being acquired by non-resident owners."

"If this is contributed the independent farmer will be wiped out, and the country will lose a vital force which has exercised wide influence in shaping the course of the nation."

"There now is one producer to every two consumers in the country," he said, "and this fact makes difficult the enactment of legislation which is designed to bring about a change in the farm situation."

"Many residents of large cities fall that if anything is done for the farmers it will cost them money," he said. "The matter of farm relief was presented to Tammany Hall. The leaders of this New York political organization said: 'Yes, the scheme is all right. There should be legislation, but we cannot afford to support it because we are consumers."

Thompson believes, however, that there is better prospect of the McNary-Haugen bill at this session of Congress than ever before.

The measure, he said, has been stripped of the embargo provision, no government subsidy is being sought and the government would not be put into business by it.
